

The West Briton and Truro Cathedral present
A Cushion Concert

We are delighted to join forces with Truro Cathedral to put on something unique and fun for families with children.

If you want to take the whole family to do something really special and fun after Christmas, then this is for you.

Children can bring cushions and sit right in front of the choir.

The cathedral's amazing choristers, aged eight to 13, will introduce and perform some favourites especially chosen for a younger audience.

You don't have to know anything about music, singing or churches and everyone is welcome, especially noisy children!

For more information please contact:

On Saturday 14
January 2012 from
2.30pm to 3.30pm
in Truro Cathedral
Admission free

"Come and join hundreds of children and their families for our annual Cushion Concert, which is presented by children, for children. As well as hearing beautiful, accessible music, there will be a chance to learn a song with the choristers at the end of the concert".
