Chaplain appointed to the Isles of Scilly

The Revd Canon Peter Walker has been appointed Chaplain to the Isles of Scilly. Peter is an experienced priest who will continue to have a connection with Truro Cathedral and work on the Islands. He is keen to take up his new role and he and his wife, Lyn, are looking forward to moving to St Marys in the autumn.

The Bishop of Truro said, "I am delighted that Peter is willing to take on this important work. Peter brings much pastoral experience, together with many skills and gifts, and I know that he will enjoy getting to know the people of the Islands. I hope too that the connection with the Cathedral will forge even stronger links between the rest of the Diocese and the communities the Chaplain serves."

Bishop Tim is visiting the Islands himself on Tuesday 27 July in order to spend time saying farewell to The Reverend Guy Scott and he will be glad to talk to other people during the day as well.
